INTRODUCING HUNGARY

Hungary is a member of the European Union and the Schengen area. It is located in the center of Europe and at the crossroads of many trade routes. Although it covers an area of only 93,000 square kilometers and has a population of less than 10 million, it has duty-free access to the EU market of more than 500 million people. In addition to the EU, it also has close relations with Ukraine, Russia and the Western Balkans with their population of more than 200 million people. Hungary has excellent geographical conditions, very beneficial for investors. The outstanding transport infrastructure allows most of Hungary to serve as the center of the four main European freight transport channels. There are more than 1,300 kilometers of highways, 7,600 kilometers of railways and six international airports in the country. Statuesque castles, stunning lakes, extraordinary caves, thick forests, and magnificent churches, Hungary is more than just its glittering capital 'Budapest'. The myriad places to visit in Hungary are fast turning one of the most popular countries in Eastern Europe into a hot and happening tourist destination.

ECONOMY :

Hungary has good industrial characteristics, with strong independent R&D and production capabilities in automobiles, computers, communication equipment, instruments, chemicals and medicine. From the current point of view, Hungary is one of the largest investment target country in Central Europe. After the completion of the modernization project of the Hungary-Serbia Railway, a large number of goods from the Middle East and China will pass through Hungary from the Greek port on their way to Western Europe.

Hungary will become the most important transportation hub in the region, and its strategic position will be greatly improved. The automobile industry is a pillar industry in Hungary. Currently, 14 of the world's 20 largest Tier 1 automotive suppliers have settled in Hungary, and their production scale is constantly expanding.

Hungary is the largest producer of electronic products in Central and Eastern Europe and one of the main production bases of the world's electronics industry.

GASTRONOMY:

Hungary is the sixth largest wine producer in Europe. Hungary has been a major wine producing country since ancient times, and you can often find famous wines from Hungary, especially the famous Tokaj noble sweet wine, which was one of the favorite wines of European royals and nobles at that time. Tokaj, Hungary is the oldest protected wine region in Europe.

The main ingredients of traditional Hungarian cuisine include meat, seasonal vegetables, fruits, bread and dairy products. One of the characteristics of the Hungarian diet is the cooking of different types of meat into stews and soups. Hungarian beef goulash and fisherman's soup are good examples. Hungarian foie gras is also famous in the world.

EDUCATION:

Hungary offers 12 years of free public education from elementary school to middle and high school (8 years for elementary and middle school and 4 years for high school). The university education system is divided into varying years according to different majors, generally 3 to 5 years. There are international schools in Hungary with English, German, Russian, French and Chinese-Hungarian bilingual teaching languages.

Hungary not only has a complete education system, it's higher education degree is recognized by the world, offering a world leading level especially in medicine, art, economics, physics, biochemistry, etc. Hungary's EU credit transfer system has successfully achieved the global wide-ranging acceptance of Hungarian degrees. No matter where they go, the high quality education certificate will help students successfully enter the workforce.
